Universities API Report

This exercice took me 4 hours. Building the main part of the app was quick, however the expiration date of the data prove to be a challenge. I was the first time that I met this type of exercice and I glad that I came up with a solution.

To keep track of the expiration date, I have prefered to create a session variable.

If I was in a professional setting, I would idiot proof my app more. I would also create a specific variable to remember the changes brougth by the 'university/create' method.